New York, N.Y. – September 26, 2011 (revised 10.31.2011) – Winners of the 32nd Annual News and Documentary Emmy® Awards were announced tonight by the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (NATAS). The News & Documentary Emmy® Awards were presented at a ceremony at Frederick P. Rose Hall, Home of Jazz at Lincoln Center, located in the Time Warner Center in New York City.

The event was attended by more than 900 television and news media industry executives, news and documentary producers and journalists. Emmy® Awards were presented in 42 categories, including Breaking News, Investigative Reporting, Outstanding Interview, and Best Documentary, among others.

This year's award presenters included: Scott Pelley, anchor and managing editor, CBS Evening News and correspondent, 60 Minutes; Brian Ross, ABC News' chief investigative correspondent; Gwen Ifill, moderator and managing editor of Washington Week and senior correspondent for The PBS NewsHour; Sanjay Gupta, MD, CNN chief medical correspondent; Sheila Nevins, president, HBO Documentary Films; Lawrence O'Donnell, host of MSNBC's The Last Word with Lawrence O'Donnell; and Bill Small, past chairman of the News & Documentary Emmy Awards. The Lifetime Achievement Award was given to legendary broadcaster Larry King, and presented by Brian Williams, anchor and managing editor, NBC Nightly News. NATAS chairman Malachy Wienges described King as "one of the most influential talk show hosts in the history of television news. We at the Academy are delighted to honor Larry for his more than 50 years in the news business" said Wienges. "He has graced our homes night after night with an enormous number of public figures on a remarkable range of topics. In his 25 years at CNN he helped build an audience for cable news and hosted more than a few history making broadcasts. We are honored to pay tribute to him tonight."
