

THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF TELEVISION ARTS & SCIENCES 67TH ANNUAL

TECHNOLOGY & ENGINEERING EMMY® AWARDS

The 67th Annual Technology & Engineering Emmy® Awards will take place on Friday, January 8th, 2016. This event marks the tenth consecutive year that the Technology and Engineering Emmy Awards have been presented during CES. The reception and presentation will take place in The Grand Ballroom at The Bellagio in Las Vegas beginning at 6:30 p.m. The event honors companies and individuals for innovation that has had a significant effect on the television industry. Companies being honored include Netflix, HBO, DirecTV, TBS and many more.

The National Academy's Engineering Achievement Committee is pleased to honor technology innovator Charles "Chuck" Pagano for his leadership in ESPN's conversion to high definition, his key role in the development of the Virtual Playback Application for ESPN and for his continual embrace of new technologies to improve ESPN's fan experience.

Our Host for the evening will be David Pogue. Pogue is an American technology writer and TV science presenter. He is a personal technology columnist for Yahoo Tech, a tech correspondent for CBS News Sunday Morning, a columnist for Scientific American and a former technology columnist for The New York Times. He is also the host of NOVA ScienceNow on PBS and was the host of the NOVA specials Making Stuff in 2011 and Hunting the Elements in 2012.
